

Is Paperwork Limiting Your Profitability?

Store, secure, and retrieve vital information smarter.

Corporate counsel and law firms handle a staggering amount of records each day, including contracts, client records, discovery documents, and court filings. Managing these files slows productivity, increases costs, and can introduce compliance risks. When critical case information can't be found quickly, your firm loses time and money. To stay competitive, today's legal professionals must modernize their document management strategies.

How do Sys.tm® and the PaperVision® product suite help legal professionals?

- Locate any record in seconds, boosting profitability.
- Use AI to automatically generate document outlines, summaries, and more.
- Enhance control to ensure compliant processes and secure records.
- Reduce costs and boost profitability with automation.

Secure records access streamlines everything you do.

Digitech Systems technology allows attorneys to gain immediate visibility into case files, improving collaboration and client responsiveness. With scalable cloud solutions, firms stay productive and competitive.

“Success in the coming years will depend on a firm’s ability to control costs, stay ahead of evolving regulations, and embrace new legal technology.¹”

Ensure Control and Improve Efficiency

Struggling to keep your legal team productive amid piles of records? With Sys.tm and the PaperVision product suite, you can leverage the latest document security, automation, and Artificial Intelligence (AI) capabilities to streamline your processes and maximize profitability. Instant, secure access to discovery documents and case files offers the best of today's technology, while still ensuring compliance with sound legal practices.

Locate Any Record in Seconds, Increasing Profitability.

Whether received electronically or digitally, discovery documentation is often overwhelming. Simplify your ability to find what you need with digital document management. It will reduce costs and boost efficiency to deliver measurable ROI for your firm.

Use AI to Automatically Generate Document Outlines, Summaries, and More.

How much time is your firm spending to summarize or outline discovery documents? Generative AI, like that found in Sys.tm® Intelligence, can automatically create this information for you. It can also help you locate any piece of information in seconds. AI can even be used to automatically recognize common documents by type and to extract critical details for you.

Enhance Control to Secure Evidence and Client Information

How do you maintain confidentiality across case teams and outside counsel? With multi-level security, user permissions, and full audit trails, our technology ensures that sensitive data remains protected and that evidence remains authentic and admissible.

Reduce Costs and Boost Profitability with Automation.

How much time do you waste routing information through processes or performing repetitive tasks by hand? Save as much as three hours daily with task and process automation.² Your legal teams can focus on clients instead of administrative tasks, boosting effort on meaningful work and getting client results.

Noting that revenues grew 4X headcount in the most successful firms since 2020, Clio's annual Legal Trends survey states, "The most successful firms don't simply add people to grow. Instead, they invest in other means [such as technology] to support their teams at every level of operations. ...Those using AI...completed 12% more tasks and finished them 25% faster than those not using AI. They also produced 40% higher quality work."³
